Retraction Notice: Patient and provider experiences with community health worker-led remote hypertension management in rural sub-Saharan Africa

Abstract

The authors are unable to provide the underlying qualitative interview data in response to a post-publication request for transparency verification. In accordance with research integrity standards, the editorial office has determined that the primary results article from this qualitative study (previously published) should be retracted pending resolution of data availability concerns. The authors have been notified and are working with the journal to address this matter. All other associated publications from the SEARCH Sapphire trial remain valid pending independent verification.
