

Title

Retraction: Efficacy of Dietary Spice Components in Modifying Chronic Pain

Abstract

The authors were unable to locate and provide the original study dataset and participant-level records upon request by the journal during routine post-publication verification. Despite multiple attempts to contact the research team, source data supporting the statistical analyses and reported results could not be produced for independent audit. In accordance with research integrity guidelines, this article is retracted. Readers should not rely on the reported findings.